While wine collectors & winemakers can enjoy arguing which is the best wine of a specific appellation, there is only one wine in the world that is the undisputed best wine in the region. We're not just talking about Bordeaux, we're talking about any of the world's wine-producing regions. That unique honor goes to Chateau d'Yquem.

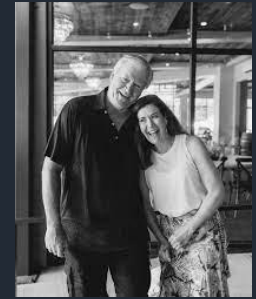

(Vintage 2016) – 99pts

Vertical Tasting of a Saint Julien Grand Cru Classe 1855

2009
2018

Chateau Lagrange (St Julien) is one of the oldest properties of Bordeaux and the only winery to have kept its original property lines of 157 hectares for over 400 years. This gives the winemaker an incredible analytical depth of information over his vineyard's capabilities. The average age of the vines are more than 40 years and planted to 66% cabernet sauvignon, 27% Merlot and 7% Petit Verdot. The terroir is gravel, sand and clay. The vertical tasting of 2 superb vintages will allow us to experience the power of the property's terroir.
